As a Gastroenterologist, you care for patients who desire the unique professional attention only you can offer. Unfortunately, no matter how competent and compassionate your services, you can be sued by patients. This is why every Gastroenterologist should protect their practice and personal assets with Professional Liability coverage.

Contemporary Insurance Services, Inc. developed a policy to provide top-notch protection of this sort, The Gastroenterologist Professional Liability Policy, a policy exclusively endorsed by the American Gastroenterological Association and the first and only program designed specifically for Gastroenterologists.

What are the features of the Gastroenterologist Professional Liability Policy?

- Competitive premiums
- Discounted premiums for AGA members
- Defense against proceedings brought by licensing boards, governmental bodies or hospital peer review committees
- Reimbursement for your expenses and loss of income while you are away from your practice assisting in your defense of a malpractice suit
- Policy limits up to $1 million for each incident and $3 million annual aggregate ($2.050 million/$6.150 million in Virginia and higher limits may be available nationwide).
- Portable protection—coverage travels with you to all of your work settings and covers lawsuits brought anywhere in the U.S.
- Free tails for death, disability or permanent retirement from practice
- Defense for HIPAA Wrongful Acts
